DAILY SUICIDE.

The enterprising daily Optic, of Las Vegas, is kept busy now-a-days issuing "extras." They have a "daily suicide" in that live city, and to record such events requires an extra edition of the Optic. If these suicides would come off about 3 p. m., the reports could be published in the regular editions and save much trouble and expense.

ONE DOLLAR—TEN CENTS.

Since last report a few more banks have gone into liquidation because the managers were unable to discover the secret of paying one dollar with ten cents cash. If we had all the gold and silver in the world made into coin, 10 to 1, it would not be sufficient to approximately meet the demand, but it would come nearer to it than can be accomplished by the gold standard.

WHINING NEWSPAPERS.

When we pick up a newspaper and each week find a moral lecture to its readers on the want of their support and complaint of hard times, &c., we are forced to think that such a paper does not deserve the patronage of the community. The publisher who has no more sense than to locate in a town where newspapers are not read and patronized, had better saw wood for a subsistence. If he knows enough to run a newspaper he will not locate his plant in a place where he will have to complain of non-support.

GIVE THE BOYS A SHOW.

The attention of the territorial supreme court is called to the fact that several newspapers in New Mexico are industriously commenting on cases pending before that honorable body, the object being to influence public opinion.—[Citizen.]

We can't understand why the Citizen wants to give away the snap the other territorial papers have in "commenting on cases pending before that honorable body." The editor and manager of our Albuquerque contemporary have had their inning and they ought, now, to permit the other fellows to enjoy themselves in like manner. Give the boys a show.

TARIFF ON WOOL.

Our republican exchanges are just now amusing themselves by comparing the price of wool before and since the passage of the late democratic tariff law. It occurs to the Eagle that if that tariff reduction on wool has hurt a few producers of that necessary commodity, it has by the same act of reduction benefited the many who consume the article. We have yet to learn of any good reason why the millions of this country should be made to pay a tribute to the few thousand sheep-raisers, or be taxed to build up any other classes of business. Most people have all they can do to take care of their own affairs without being required, by law, to contribute to the promotion of the enterprises of their neighbors and to the detriment and injury of their own concerns.

PUT ON THE SEARCH-LIGHT.

There is one thing the honest and law-abiding citizens of New Mexico desire Mr. Catron, as soon as congress convenes, to do, and that is to procure an investigation into the manner of organizing the thirty-first legislative assembly of the territory last winter. No more dastardly crime against the people of any territory in this union was ever perpetrated.—[San Marcial Bee.] Suppose you include in this inquiry the methods of W. G. Ritch in organizing the assembly of 1894—in fact, give us an insight into republican methods in New Mexico for, lo! these many years and on up to date. A fair and thorough investigation of this nature would be a splendid move in aid of Mr. Catron's statehood work. Everybody would see the necessity of the admission of this territory in order to make our officials honest and to improve our methods, if found incorrect. By all means, investigate.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY.

Bimetallists may choose to explain the rise in silver by the increased production of gold, but that makes no difference in the fact that the price of silver is subject to precisely the same natural laws as that of any other commodity.—[Philadelphia Times.]

No bimetallist has, so far as this paper is aware, chosen to ascribe the rise in silver to the unusual production of gold. Besides, that is not the point. Neither does the statement that the price of silver is subject to precisely the same natural laws as that of any other commodity cover the ground.

Suppose gold was demonetized and subject to the same natural laws as silver; how would the increased production that now obtains affect its price? The advocates of the single gold standard have ever maintained that the price of silver could not be affected by its demonetization. They must, in order to be consistent, hold the same opinion with respect to gold.

The present situation and condition clearly illustrate the absurdity of the goldbug view.—[Denver Times.]

PERHAPS SO.

It begins to look as though the Texas and Pacific were somewhat interested in getting into New Mexico itself. C. U. Eddy isn't stirring so energetically about those White Oaks coal fields for nothing.—[New Mexican.]

THE REED OF "WHITE-CAPS."

It now transpires that Dan E. Young, an old-time citizen and prominent politician of Colfax county, was murdered at Oak Canyon, eight miles distant from Folsom. He was shot from behind and badly bruised on the head. It is thought "White Caps," some of whom he had exposed, are connected with the murder.—[Optic.]

QUERY.

If it is not proposed to redeem the bonds issued during the present administration in silver, why was the $11,000,000 premium paid on the last issue for the privilege of so doing? The syndicate was willing to take 3 percent bonds if they were made payable in gold. They were not made payable in gold, and the syndicate was paid a bonus, amounting to $11,000,000, to accept bonds which are payable in lawful money of the United States. If the syndicate does not expect to be paid in whatever kind of money is offered, and the government does not expect to pay in whatever kind of money is most convenient and easily obtained, what was the meaning of the two prices on the bonds? Since we have the dearly-bought privilege of paying these obligations in silver, what is the object of throwing it away by maintaining the gold standard?—[Topeka Journal.]

STATEHOOD.

What New Mexico Would Gain by Admission.

In the first place we should gain double or, at least, largely increased taxation on the assumption of the dignity and responsibilities of a state government.

If we are to believe the advocates of present admission, all the scallawags in the territory will have become honest citizens of the new state. The politicians of both parties will have grown to be statesmen. The selfish tricksters will become active workers in the promotion of the public welfare. The treasury-looters will then labor for the public and refuse all offers of salaries or other compensation. The ignorant will become wise; the illiterate will have acquired education. Statehood will of itself reform our school system and the other laws which now disgrace our statute books. It doubtless will increase the price of wool and make our mines, our farms, orchards, ranges and workshops more productive and profitable. It will bring in capitalists to whom we can readily sell all the worthless stuff we do not want and which, otherwise, we should have to give to the poor. It will create fat offices for a dozen or more deserving statesmen who have nothing else to do but to take care of the public and who need the salaries to take care of themselves. All these things we could have by becoming a state. True, the taxpayers would be compelled to work harder and deprive themselves and families of many things which they can now afford, but what does this amount to by the side of STATEHOOD?

A Great Linguist Baffled.

The late Prof. Stephen J. Young, of Bowdoin, was an accomplished linguist. One day he was on a train bound from Bangor to Brunswick, when a conductor who knew him entered his car to ask him to come out to the second-class coach to find out where a certain stupid foreigner was going.

The conductor had attacked him in all the foreign lingo he could muster, and could get no other response than a stupid stare.

Prof. Young went back to the rear of the train. The passenger sat there looking very much disturbed and bewildered. The professor went at him in Canadian French, then in German, then in the languages of Spain, Scandinavia, Egypt, Italy and every other country on the face of the earth. Still the passenger sat mum as an owl, while the look of bewilderment deepened on his face. The professor was nonplussed and was about turning in defeat to his own car when the man looked wearily out of the window and remarked sadly to himself:

"Be goosh! I wish I was ter hum."
He was an Aristocrat Yankee and he could speak nothing but English.—[Ex.]

"While down in the southwestern part of the state some time ago," says Mr. W. Chalmers, editor of the Chico (Cal.) Enterprise, "I had an attack of dysentery. Having heard of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I bought a bottle. A couple of doses of it completely cured me. Now I am a champion of that remedy for all stomach and bowel complaints." For sale by Dr. M. G. Paden, druggist.

Quarantine Raised.

A Washington dispatch says: Secretary Morton has issued an order directing that from and after October 22d cattle may be admitted into the United States from Mexico for grazing and immediate slaughter.

The admission of such cattle is permitted subject to the inspection of the bureau of animal industry, and no cattle will be admitted which are affected with or which have been exposed to the contagion of any disease liable to be disseminated among domestic cattle in the United States. The importer must produce evidence satisfactory to the inspector that his cattle have not been exposed to contagion during a period of ninety days previous to importation.

Goodlett Dead.

Billie Goodlett died at Lincoln last week. The writer first knew Mr. Goodlett in the town of Otero, in 1879, when he was a trusted deputy under Peter Burleson, then sheriff of Colfax county. The condition of that country was such as to demand the services of men of courage and nerve, and in Sheriff Burleson and his deputy, Goodlett, were found the exact material required. Mr. Goodlett may have had his faults, for who has not, but none ever accused him of standing back when official duty called him into dangerous places. He was a resident of White Oaks in the early 80s and deputy for Sheriff Garrett.

The "Intelligent Composer" Did It.

A Kentucky editor, being challenged by a county treasurer for calling him the "red-headed malignant mule who dissipates the county's money," produced his manuscript and showed that he wrote the "big-hearted valiant soul who dispenses the county's money." The treasurer withdrew the challenge and substituted an invitation to partake of a lemonade with a "stick in it."

There is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has been sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment and bound on over the seat of pain, will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by Dr. M. G. Paden.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by druggists, price, 75c per bottle.

Parents who are subscribers can instruct their children to call at postoffice at noon every Thursday and get the EAGLE. Those unfortunates who are not subscribers can get the EAGLE fifty-two weeks for $2—six months, $1.

FOR SALE.

CONSUMERS OF PRINTING

should bear in mind that the main difference between poor and effective printing lies chiefly in the typesetting, and that this is really the smallest item of the whole cost. The paper, press work and binding may be the same, but 10 per cent. added to the item of typesetting may make the finished work look 50 per cent. better. It is in this particular feature that THE EAGLE excels. The work demonstrates this fact.
